

Sussex Gardens Trust: Winter Lecture Series 2018

Literary Landscapes: Writers and their Gardens

The winter lectures this year will explore the relationship between writers and their gardens. The lectures will consider the importance of the garden in the author's life, aspects of the design and how the garden influenced their writing. We have chosen speakers who are experts in their field and have included some local gardens. The series will appeal to members at all levels of interest, and will cover subjects from the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries. The lectures will take place at Clair Hall in Haywards Heath (which has good facilities, ample free car parking for attendees and is close to the railway station). See <http://www.sussexgardenstrust.org.uk/events/lecture-series>

All lectures will take place at The Function Suite, Clair Hall, Haywards Heath. Tea, coffee and cake provided - 30 minute interval.

Book Early to avoid disappointment

Please complete this booking form and send with your cheque (payable to Sussex Gardens Trust) to:
SGT Events Secretary, 3 Beehive Close, Ferring, Worthing, W Sussex, BN12 5NS.

If you wish to pay online please contact Gwen Chinnery for bank details and to check availability
e-mail: membersinformation@sussexgardenstrust.org.uk; (01903 700950; mobile 07969 534558)

Name of SGT member(s)
Address
e-mail
Tel No

	Price	No Req	Cost
Series tickets for all 4 lectures shown below	£50
Sat 3 February, 2-4 pm. Rudyard Kipling at Batemans Len Bernamont, Head Gardener at Batemans	£15
Sat 17 February, 2-4 pm. John Ruskin at Brantwood Caroline Ikin, garden historian and author	£15
Sat 3 March, 2-4 pm. Virginia Woolf at Monk's House Dr Nuala Hancock, garden historian and author	£15
Sat 24 March 2-4 pm. William Shenstone at The Leasowes Michael Symes, garden historian, author and lecturer	£15
Total Cost

If your booking is accepted, an e-mail will be sent to confirm and this will constitute your ticket.

The Trust reserves the right to change the lecture or lecturer if necessary due to circumstances beyond our control.

Cancellation/refund Policy

Course Cancellation: As the number of places available is limited, please let us know as soon as possible if you are no longer able to take up your place for the entire series - it will then be offered to other members on the waiting list, and, if another member takes the place, then a refund will be made.

Lecture cancellation: If you are unable to attend a particular lecture, provided you agree, we will forward your email address to others on the waiting list, so that a private arrangement may be made.